

Subhasis Roy

Subhasis Roy holds an MBA from Duke University and brings more than two decades of experience in healthcare investment banking and clinical-stage biopharmaceutical leadership.

He held senior positions at UBS Investment Bank and HSBC, advising healthcare companies on IPOs, equity offerings, debt financings and cross-border M&A transactions globally. He subsequently transitioned into executive leadership roles within clinical-stage biotechnology companies, serving as CFO and CEO/COO.

In these roles, he led public listings, structured financing transactions, managed investor relations activities and supported clinical development strategies, including a listing on the SIX Swiss Exchange.

He provides Vaccentis AG with capital markets expertise, financial governance oversight and institutional investor experience.
